AG's office will appeal VictoryLand court ruling

Decision could allow casino, closed since 2010, to reopen, have bingo machines returned

The Alabama Attorney General's Office will appeal a Montgomery County Circuit Court decision dismissing a forfeiture case involving VictoryLand casino.

Assistant Attorney General John Kachelman filed a notice of appeal with the Macon County clerk's office on Friday morning, signifying his office's intent to ask the Alabama Supreme Court to review the decision.

The dismissal, which was ordered Thursday by Montgomery Circuit Court Judge William Shashy, could have returned 1,615 electronic bingo machines and more than $260,000 in cash to the casino — all of which was confiscated when the Attorney General's Office raided VictoryLand in 2010.

"I'm disappointed and I think it's extremely premature to do this," said Vic-

Newlyweds celebrate; Roy Moore criticizes, calls for Supreme Court to rehear case

Alabama Chief Justice Roy Moore discusses his views on the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling.

I was a joyous day for Jessica Dent and Carolee Taylor. But it started messy.

The couple, who have been together 13 years, chose not to get married in February, when same-sex marriage was legal in Alabama for about three weeks. But after the U.S. Supreme Court legalized same-sex marriage throughout the country, they decided to take the plunge.

"I was attempting to paint my toes, it was coming through over the news, she was trying to text me, and it was a mess," Taylor said.

Dent and Taylor were among the many couples nationwide who took their vows after the 5-4 ruling.

"As some of the petitioners in these cases demonstrate, marriage embodies a love that may endure even past death," Justice Anthony Kennedy wrote in for the majority. "It would mis-women to say they disrespect the idea of marriage. Their plea is that they do respect it, respect it so deeply that they seek to find its fulfillment for themselves.

Rep. Patricia Todd, D-Birmingham, director of the Human Rights Campaign Alabama and the state's only openly gay legislator, said she was "ecstatic" with the ruling, but not surprised.

"It's sort of been like waiting for a baby to be born," she said. "We knew it was coming. We just didn't know what day."

Diann Graetz stood outside the Montgomery County Courthouse on Friday after the Supreme Court's 5-4 ruling to uphold same-sex marriages nationwide, declaring it a "monumental occasion."

"I really feel like the people are moving this forward," said Graetz, of California, who was in Montgomery visiting her parents and civil rights leaders Robert and Jean Graetz. "The people are leading the country because the leaders don't really want to lead. So the people will have to push it forward. And this is the way it really ought to be all of the time, anyway."
